MESSAGE FROM THE EDITOR

Offshore Engineering & Equipment (OEE) covers the design, procurement, engineering and maintenance requirements of the offshore industries including oil and gas, drilling, subsea, renewables and related equipment including health and safety.

The content focuses on providing the latest news and information for industry professionals and will include the latest trends, equipment and product news, real life application stories, technology insights, business acquisitions, new appointments and much more.

In addition, our website www.offshoreequipment.uk is also a comprehensive online hub for professionals who want to stay current on every aspect of their industry, including news, features, equipment and services. Readership includes: engineering procurement & construction (EPC) contractors, oil & gas service companies, operators, renewable energy companies, OEMs, designers and maintenance personnel.

DFA Media has an unrivalled publishing reputation in the engineering, technology, management and maintenance sectors, producing market-leading journals, with some dating back over thirty years.

CONTENT MARKETING

Content marketing is a growing part of the media offering for most businesses. Companies produce a wide range of assets, including whitepapers, case studies, videos and webinars, which are created to better showcase a product or service.

Almost too often content remains under utilised and companies fail to monitor who is engaging with their content, we can help you bridge that gap by using our website, social and media channels to extend the reach of your content to our engaged community.
